Three Milam Jail Fugitives Taken, Two Still At Large

FIVE MEN BREAK THRU JAIL WALL IN SUN. ESCAPE

Wallace, Barfield, Found Near City

Milam County's historic jail has one more mark on its record following Sunday's jail break.

Sheriff Carl Black said five men broke through a thick brick and concrete wall from their second-floor cell around 9:15 p.m. Sunday. They tied two blankets together and lowered themselves through a small opening in the cell wall.

A steel cell door handle was used to break through the wall. The handle, broken off an old cell, still lay beside the small 18-inch hole when Sheriff Black went to investigate.

Sheriff Black said he returned to the jail about 9:30 p.m. Sunday night. Other prisoners notified him of the escape.

ST. E-WIDE ALERT

A state-wide alert for the five was issued Sunday night and Sgt. O. L. Luther of the Texas Rangers in Bryan was in Cameron Monday to join in the investigation.

It was believed the men stole a 1953 Chevrolet from the Herman Hoelscher home west of Cameron to make their get-away. The automobile had been parked in front of the Hoelscher home about 9:30 p.m. Sunday and was reported missing the next morning.

The alert was out for the five fugitives: Clyde Wallace, 24, of Huntsville; Frank Barfield, 22, of Cameron; William D. Williams, 24, of Houston; Sammy Morgan, 29, of Cameron and Johnny Delasco, 17, of Waco.

The Milam County jail has been the site of many jail breaks during past years. One courthouse official estimated the breaks averaged nearly one a year during the past 20 years.

The sheriff noted this was the second jail break in recent years where the wall had been broken out. Another time prisoners wedged out the jail bars and last July fugitives went out the roof.

"We don't necessarily need a new jail, we just need some good major repairs on this one," the Sheriff said.

The 75 year old jail has had no major repairs since it was constructed.

Three of the five fugitives who escaped Sunday from the Milam County Jail have been captured, Sheriff Carl Black said Wednesday.

Clyde Wallace, 24, of Huntsville, and Frank Barfield, 22, of Cameron, were captured about 7 p.m. at the Vaughn Jenness farm south of Cameron. William D. Williams, 24, of Houston, was caught in Houston Tuesday night, Sheriff Black said.

No word on the whereabouts of the other two fugitives, Sammy Morgan, 29, of Cameron, and Johnny Delasco, 17, of Waco, had been received Wednesday.

Sheriff Black said Wallace and Barfield were captured and returned to the Milam County Jail by Vaughn Jenness and one of his hired hands.

He said Jenness reported he and an employee were working in a field fixing fence and the constant barking of his dog made them investigate. The pair surrendered to Jenness and were returned to jail.

Sheriff Black said the men would be filed on for breaking jail. Both Wallace and Barfield were inmates of the state prison in Huntsville. They had been brought to Cameron on bench warrants and both sentenced in District Court Friday to five year prison terms on two burglary charges.

Williams was captured by Houston authorities on the Gulf Freeway late Tuesday. He was traveling in an automobile belonging to Herman Hoelscher of Cameron. The 1953 Chevrolet had been reported stolen from the Hoelscher home, located west of Cameron on the Temple highway, sometime during Sunday night or Monday morning.

Black said Williams will be charged with car theft. He was serving a 30 day jail sentence for shoplifting at the time of the jail break. He was being returned to the county jail Wednesday.

Morgan was serving a six months sentence for aggravated assault. Delasco had just been picked up Saturday night for fighting and intoxication and no charges had been filed on him, Black said.

Smith Oil Opens Gas Well Drilling

By Lloyd Albertson

Milam County's shallow drilling activity continued to hold the spotlight this week with the start of a wildcat by Brown and Smith Oil Company of Houston in the Rice Schoolhouse area. It will be the first serious attempt to develop shallow gas well production in the county.

Monday on the Henry Pattillo 534 acre lease. The Brown and Smith Oil Company has assembled a 2,700 acre lease block in the area and has plans to drill several shallow tests for oil and gas.

The Brown & Smith wildcat is located about 1,000 feet from an old gas well drilled during the mid-1950's on the Pattillo land and which reportedly produced gas at 250,000 cubic feet a day before being plugged and abandoned.

The new wildcat will be cored later this week. Tom Betchan of Milano is the drilling contractor.

In eastern Milam County the Shell Oil Company No. 1 Nell Ross was drilling at 13,400 feet on Monday. It is permitted to 15,000 feet or the Smackover. The Ross has made an even 1,000 feet of hole during the past two weeks; it was reported at 12,400 feet on April 26 and at 12,320 feet on last Monday.

The two shallow wildcats drilled by the Oxford Oil Company on the Tumlinson Estate lease recently are waiting on completion of an electric power line to the site before being put on pump and having a potential test run on them.

New Industrial Foundation Set

Cameron's Industrial Foundation has been revised and chartered as a non-profit organization and work is underway on a new set of by-laws. It was announced at the CC board meeting Monday.

John B. Henderson Jr. and CC President Forrest Sapp chartered the non-profit organization in Austin last week thus dissolving the profit making foundation.

Articles of Incorporation involve three steps, the first being formation of the by-laws. The foundation will then have to elect officers.

Officers, plan a program of education, plan fund raising drive and begin plans to acquire an industrial park.

In other action Frank Luecke was appointed chairman to study the feasibility of Cameron being host for the 17th Annual Founders Day Milk Bowl game. Appointment came following an inquiry from the president of Milk Bowl Enterprises. An application for the game has already been made by another city, but has not as yet been accepted. Lane Horstmann and Herman Hanel will serve on the committee with Luecke.

Chamber officials announced that plans for a community-wide meeting are continuing with the date set for Tuesday, June 8.

Bob Wells has been appointed chairman of the meeting and is presently securing several speakers. The meeting between city, county, school, chamber and interested persons is being designed to generate enthusiasm within the community for improving Cameron.

County Agent's Notes

Time To Spray Pecan Trees

By J. D. Moore

Pecan growers interested in spraying their trees to control the casebearer are urged to observe their trees this week, May 10-15. The pecan nut casebearer is on time to early this spring, according to B. G. Hancock, Extension agent of the pecan trees should not be used as an index of casebearer activity.

There were pupa in the bands in Guadalupe County on April 15. Over one-half of the casebearers located in Hood County on April 27 were in the pupa stage. This insect passes the winter as a partially grown larvae. In the spring the larvae feed for a short time on the buds after which they tunnel in the developing shoots until they reach maturity. Pupation usually occurs in these burrows, and the moths emerge in early May in this area. Egg laying starts the first week in May.

For the past several years, tiny worms start feeding on the small pecans on May 10, 11 and 12 in Milam County.

CONTROL - The necessity for control of this insect may be determined by examination of the trees for eggs and tiny worms. Ordinarily, only one application of spray is required to control the nut casebearer. However, if trees surrounding the treated area are not sprayed, moths may enter the sprayed area and re-infest the trees for a second generation. Trees sprayed with Guthion at the proper time last year gave good control. This work was done by E. J. Provasek of Cameron. Guthion has more residual than Sevin or Malathion. However, these materials are recommended in the guide.

Anyone interested further in the proper timing of spray applications may contact the County Agent.

Spray new Caparol ailer cotton is 6 inches high to control weeds.

Control most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses in cotton with new Caparol® herbicide. Simply apply as a directed spray to the base of your cotton when it is six inches or higher.

You'll get good knockdown of weeds and grasses that are less than two inches high... plus some killing action through the roots of later-germinating weeds.

The cost of this treatment, when Caparol is applied in a 10 inch band, can be as little as 85 cents per acre. Compare this with the $2-3 per acre it would cost you for hoe hands.

Enter on in the season, you can go in and make a layby application of new Caparol to control weeds until the cotton is high enough to shade them out.

With new Caparol, you'll have no reason to worry about soil residue carryover to harm next year's spring-seeded crops.

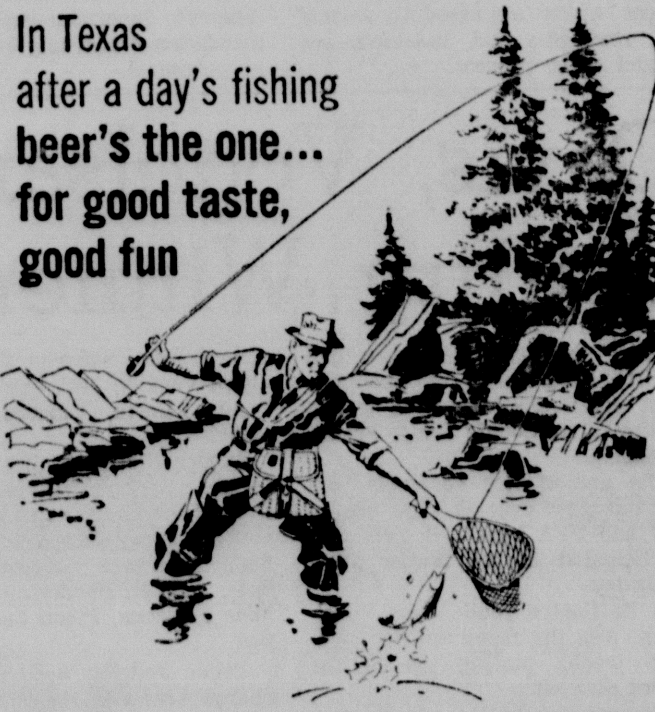

Ask your supplier for new Caparol.

Do you know the difference?

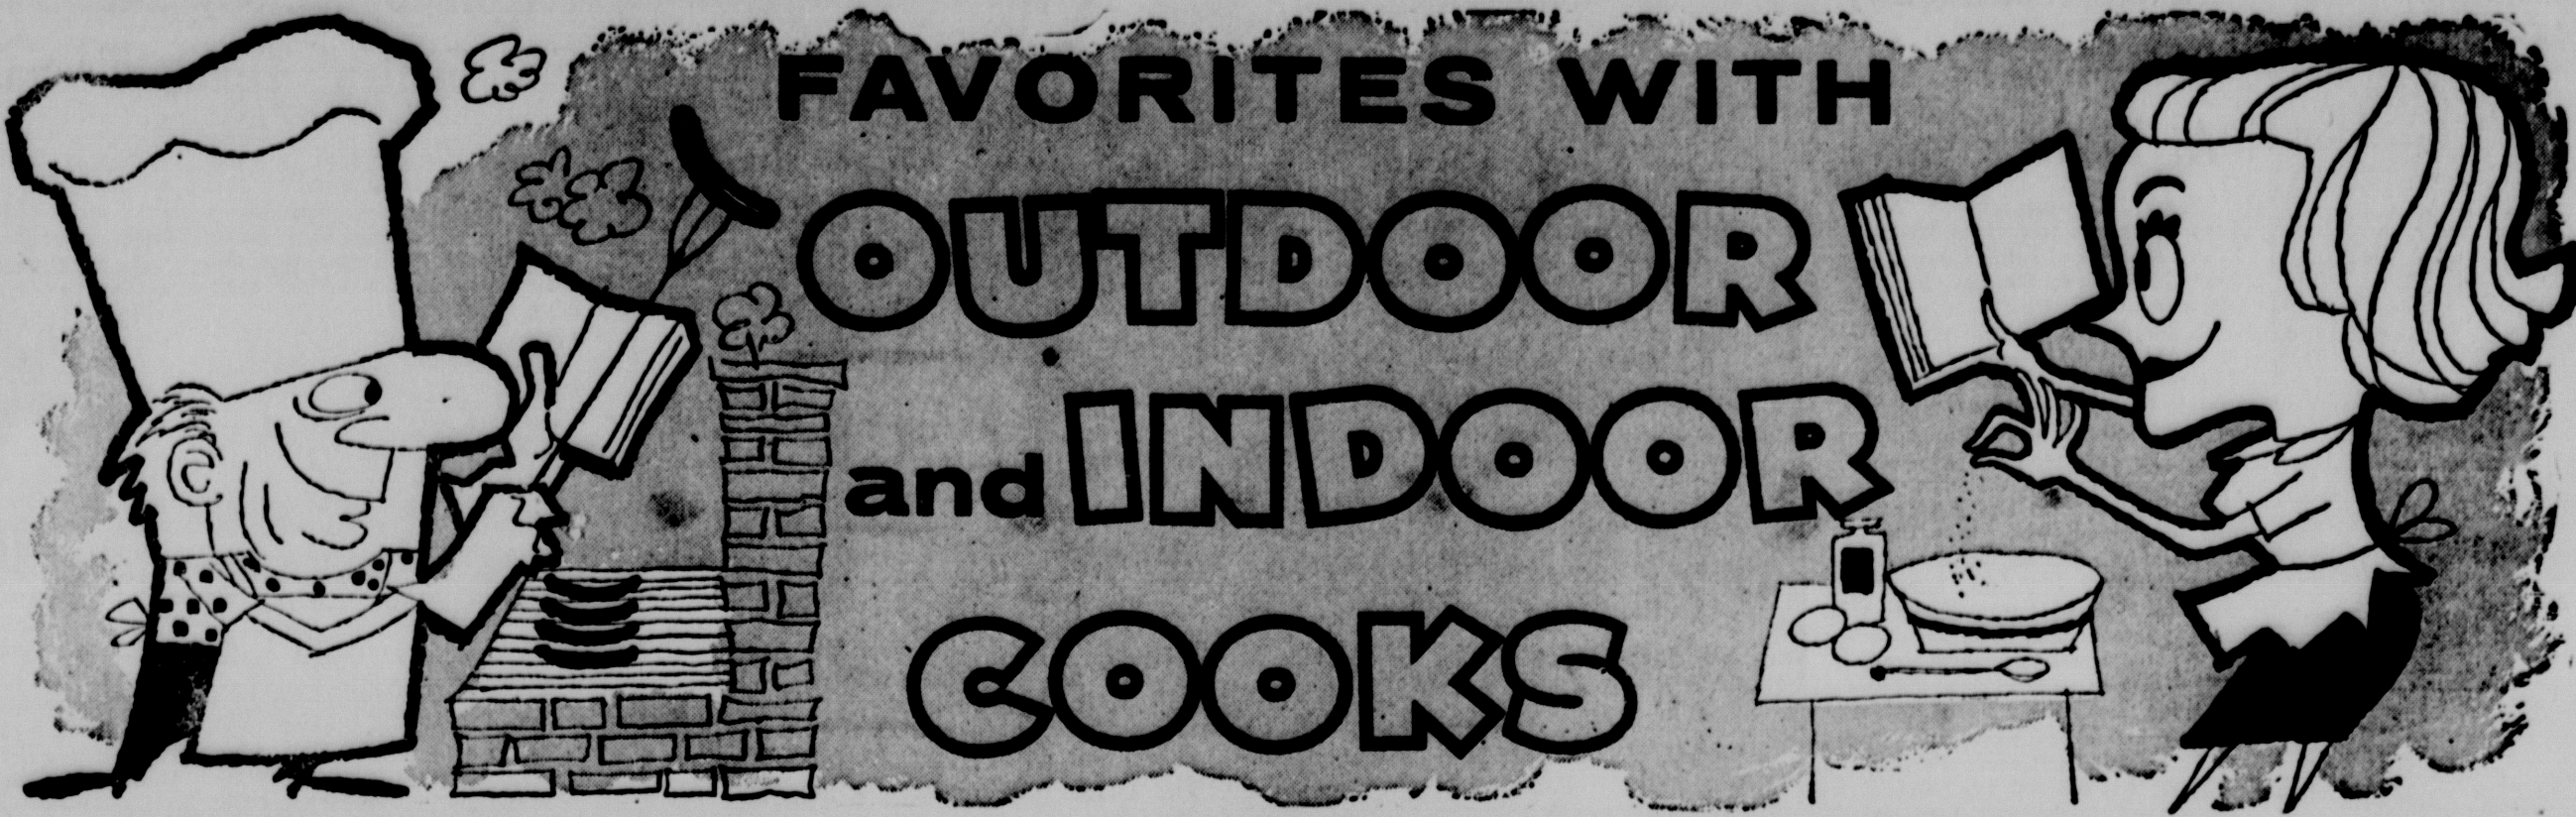

Dylox does!

Dylox is the selective insecticide. It selects its victims, the lygus bugs and fleahoppers that raise havoc when cotton begins to fruit and square. Unlike non-selective insecticides, Dylox does not appreciably reduce beneficial insect populations. Predators and parasites such as lady beetles, lacewings, egg parasites and big-eyed bugs continue to carry on their beneficial work in your fields. Therefore, cotton grows and fruits with the additional protection of beneficial insects, resulting in less frequent sprayings.

Can you identify the insect silhouettes? Dylox knows the difference. See your dealer for a supply.

END OF LIGHTENING TRAIL — Mrs. Bruno Eixman stands in her favorite place in her home on West Main and views the damage of a lightening trail. She is also glad she wasn't cooking breakfast at her usual time of 7 a.m. Sunday. Lightening hit a huge pecan tree in the back yard, traveled a clothes line to the wash house, burning up an insulator, then traveled an electric wire into the house. The lightening traveled down electric wiring in the kitchen burning the wall and destroying an electric cord before miraculously putting itself out. Mr. and Mrs. Eixman were in Baytown over the weekend and the damage was not discovered until Monday.

Regional Blood Program Answers Rogers School Registration Questions Most Frequently Asked Beginning For '65-'66 Year

1. Who can donate blood? Any one in average good health between the ages of 18 and 66. Persons between the ages of 18 and 21 must have written consent of a parent or guardian, except a married girl or a member of the military.

2. How much must a person weigh before he or she may donate blood? 110 pounds.

3. How often may one donate? Every 8 weeks, up to 5 times a year.

4. How much blood is needed each year? On an average of 3 1/2 pints per 100 people.

5. How does a person know if he or she is physically able to donate blood? A brief but pertinent physical examination is given each donor before each donation by a registered nurse under the direction of a physician. A doctor is always present during a blood operation and the actual drawing of blood is done by a licensed Red Cross nurse.

6. How long does it take to give a pint of blood? About 1 hour.

7. Is there ever a charge for Red Cross blood? No. The hospital charges for the processing, typing, shipping, administering, etc. of the blood but there is never a charge for the blood itself.

8. Will the Red Cross replace blood used outside of the Region? Yes. The Red Cross Blood Bank will replace blood used by the residents of the Region wherever they are hospitalized.

9. What should I do if I am hospitalized outside of the Region and use blood? Notify your local Red Cross Chapter or your local family doctor, and give your name and address and the name and address of the hospital.

10. Does a person have to be a donor to receive blood from the Red Cross Blood Bank? No. Any resident of the Central Texas Regional Blood Center Region is eligible for Red Cross blood whether he has given or not.

11. Does Red Cross blood have to be replaced? No. There is no obligation to replace blood from the Red Cross Blood Center. However, once a pint of blood is taken off the shelf and used another pint must be donated to assure that blood will be available for the next person who needs it. To keep blood in the bank, some areas do ask members of the patient's family to donate if possible, but if the family does not replace the blood used, the patient will not have to pay for the blood — nor will the family be frowned upon if the blood is not replaced.

ROGERS

Registration cards and sheets of information concerning school operation in 1965-66 in the Rogers Public Schools have gone out to parents in the district.

School authorities are desirous that parents understand the information pertaining to this registration of students. If there is any question parents should contact Supt. B. F. Harbour or principals J. L. Chervinka for high school and Darwin Schwertner for elementary school registration, or Mrs. Ernestine L. Powell.

Since Rogers district will operate only one high school for all students in the district, there is no choice of school for students. Rogers Negro students will attend here for the first time. The two students who have been attending O. J. Thomas High School in Cameron and are eligible to graduate there in 1966 will be permitted to transfer to Cameron and attend there again, in order to graduate with their classmates. The Rogers school board will pay the expenses of tuition and transportation. Other Negro high school students will attend Rogers High School.

Since two elementary schools of eight grades each will be operated in Rogers, all students may make a choice of the school they will attend. They must make their choice when they register at this time. The two schools are Burks Elementary School, formerly an all-Negro school and Rogers Elementary School, formerly an all-white school. All schools are completely desegregated.

All students attending any Rogers school will be permitted to eat

86th Birthday Only Pause In Life Of Miss Lillian Atkinson

Sunday a host of relatives honored Miss Lillian Atkinson on her 86th birthday.

Monday morning, she stopped at her office to handle some business that needed attention.

Few journals match such a schedule, but then, few could match Miss Lillian as an alert and interesting person.

Recalling a career which included one year as teacher in a private country school, Miss Atkinson said, "I have done a little of everything and enjoyed most of it."

Her business career began when she kept books for her brother in Cameron. After he closed his business she worked in the county clerk's office under Mr. Jeff Kemp. When Mr. Kemp ran for County Judge in 1928 Miss Lillian was elected County Clerk.

OPPOSED KKK

Opposition to the Ku Klux Klan cost her the county post in the following election and she joined Miss Ann Stallworth in the abstract and real estate business. The partnership, which lasted until Miss Stallworth's death, soon added an insurance agency and small loan business.

After her partner's death she sold the abstract business and in recent years the insurance agency. She has retained the real estate interest.

Asked about her recent hospital confinement, Miss Lillian recalled her only other trip to the hospital. She had left her car in gear while opening a gate in the country. Before she could get out of the way, the car lurched forward and knocked her to the ground. As the front wheels rolled over her, she recalls calmly anticipating: "When those back wheels reach me, it will kill me and no one will ever be able to figure out how such an accident could have happened."

Miraculously, the car was stopped by some rocks and Miss Lillian was found by the neighboring Shap McClarens, who summoned aid.

Her parents moved to Texas from Montgomery, Ala., following the Civil War. They traveled as far as the railroad ran, which was Calvert, where Mrs. Atkinson stayed in the local hotel with her two young daughters while her husband searched for good land.

MAYSFIELD HOME

The Atkinsons located in Maysfield where they established a prosperous farm and reared their family. Of eight children, only four lived to adulthood. Miss Lillian, only surviving daughter, was educated in Maysfield Sunday and attended Stewart Seminary, a private Presbyterian school in Austin. She moved to her present home in Cameron with her mother following her father's death.

Speaking fondly of her mother, Miss Lillian recalled that when she reached her 74th birthday her mother announced: "I have worked hard enough in my life, and I'm not going to work any more."

And Miss Lillian added, her mother stuck to her word, relaxing with her paper in the mornings and enjoying her yard for the next 10 years.

ANTIQUE COLLECTION
Miss Atkinson has decorated her home with fine antiques, including a massive bed entirely of rosewood. She recalls that many of the antiques were bought when the money should have been spent on essentials, but they brought her much pleasure.

Among her treasures is a leaded glass China cabinet with the dates 1863-1868 carved at the base. The cabinet is said to have been a 25th wedding gift from the British Duke of Litchfield to his wife. The China cabinet is a perfect showcase for a collection of cranberry glass, pressed and cut glass.

But her antiques are a hobby, not an outlook. Miss Atkinson plans continued interest in her real estate business and in her garden, which is in constant flowering.

MIKE PERRIN NOT FIRST BUT IS AMONG THE BEST

By L. E. Sapp
In announcing Mike Perrin's selection to play in the Texas All-star game, issued in the May 6 edition of The Herald, it seems this sports writer goofed.

Mike, you are not the first, but you will certainly go down as being among the best.

The little line, stating that Perrin was the first boy in this city's history to be selected to play in the All-Star game, awoke many football fans who were sitting back waiting for next fall to come.

Telephones began to ring, till I could hear them in my sleep. The sleepy football crowd wanted the truth known so I started searching for information on all past Cameron All-star football players.

In my search I have found there have been three, and I cannot assure the reading public that there have not been more. This is all I have found and any additional information would be welcome.

Cameron's football history in Texas All-star games dates back to 1934 when Leonard Blaylock was selected to play. Blaylock, a graduate of Baylor University Law School, is presently agent in charge of Federal Bureau of Investigation in New Mexico.

Another whiz Yoe football player, Frank Torno Jr., was selected to play in the 1944 All-star game. The 180 lb. back drew a football scholarship from Texas A&M where he completed studies after a stretch in the service. Torno is now living in Houston and is employed at Humble Oil Company.

In 1949 Robert Zolt, 196 lb. Yoe tackle, busted heads in the All-star game. He attended Texas Christian University on a football scholarship and then received his masters of Education at the University of Houston. Zolt is presently teaching at Galena Park in Houston.

Now comes Yoe halfback Mike Perrin who will play in the All-star game in August.

We are glad, Mike, that you are not the first, now we can be proud of all of you.

MURRAY GO ROUND

By Tom Murray
No, we are not related to that other Murray.

James, not Arthur.

J. Murray is a Los Angeles Times sports columnist, almost as talented as Houston's Mickey Herskowitz and Dallas' Blackie Sherrod.

Houston Astro fans needed no introduction to Ol' Cuz, since he has been rather freely and, deservedly, roasted for his negative words about the Astrodome and Texans.

As you've been told J. Murray makes his living that way. T. Murray has been known to use a similar style but it has never produced a living.

Well, anyway, (next) Monday, when the Astros return to their Garden of Eden, there will be a new attraction.

J. Murray will be in the Astrodome press box. Houston fans won't know whether to watch the game, the scoreboard or that Los Angeles Murray.

For safety's sake, T. Murray will sit in the stands during the Dodger series.

We can not write like him, but Vic Lindskog, Los Angeles Ram NFL Scout, swears this Murray looks like him.

AND, SOME MORE:

Did you know Houston's Dave Marr forgot to sign his Texas open scorecard, and that oversight cost him $550, and an entry in David Crow, the man who stopped Aggies from retelling John Kimbrough stories, was sold to San Francisco, the equipment manager smiled. Abe Woodson, whom the Cardinals acquired for the great Aggie running back, wears No. 44, just like John David. The swap will reunite Bear Bryant's top Aggie lineman and back. All-American Charlie Krueger is a defensive end for the 49ers.

Tragedy sometimes knows no bounds. Only a year ago, former All-American SMU cager Jim Krebs lost their infant child by a crib injury. Now big Jim is the victim of death via that falling tree. Sam Blair quotes Don Shula, Baltimore NFL Division Championship Coach: "Just to show you how much luck affects a coaching career, my first job was at Virginia as an assistant. Then Blanton Collier hired me at Kentucky. A year later the entire Virginia staff was fired. A year after I left Kentucky, the whole coaching staff was fired. I left Detroit to go to Baltimore, and you know what happened to the Lions' coaching staff. I have a feeling I'm just one step ahead of the posse."

Willie Mays may be the most complete baseball player ever to play in the major leagues. You get little argument with that statement anyway. When the Giants, captained by their immensely popular centerfielder, invade the Astrodome next week, the place should not hold a cold cushion. Somehow, Willie seems to belong in Hofheinz House. Can't you see those big Mays eyes as he come to bat in that plush joint? There are some who feel Jim Wynn will someday approach Willie's class as a player who can do it all - run, throw and hit.

Waco's Dave Campbell, excused Houston's two losses in frigid Milwaukee to shock. He sez the Astros were probably as let down as the fellow who expected a blind date with Sophia Loren and got Gravel Gertie. Dave claims the Braves pleaded with all their Milwaukee friends to show up and welcome the Astros. "So all of them did," he wrote. "Every last one of them - 913 to be exact."

"Accustomed as they are to the multitudes, the Astros obviously suffered a letdown," Campbell jested.

We can not write like him, but Vic Lindskog, Los Angeles Ram NFL Scout, swears this Murray looks like him.

Rain Perks Golf Tourney Greens

By L. E. Sapp

Heavy rains during the early part of this week were a welcome sight to members of the Cameron Country Club golf tournament committee as they continue plans for Sunday's activities.

"The rains have put the golf course in excellent shape for our 35th annual tournament," said Chairman Dr. C. G. Swift.

"Now all we need is a clear day Sunday for the large number of people we are expecting to participate," he continued.

The oldest invitational tourney in this area will have over 160 golfers from over Texas participating.

For it's 35th year, the annual Cameron Invitational Golf Tournament has drawn interest from many sections of the state. However, the number of flights to be played in the 18-hole match will be determined Sunday when all entries are in. Prizes will be given in all flights.

Tournament play will begin at 7 a.m. and will be a blind bogey tourney.

Entry fee will be $5.00 which includes refreshments on the golf course and a barbecue dinner. Non-golfers will be charged $1.50 for the barbecue dinner.

for the championship with 69. Johnny Johnson of Texas A&M and George Smith of Hearne shared the honors. However, the records do not cover all 35 years and Dr. Swift said it is possible that better scores have been played.

Another record was set in 1963 when the first hole-in-one was shot in the tournament. Bud Turner shot the hole-in-one on the 130 yard number nine hole on his first round.

Plans for the tournament have been made by a committee composed of Dr. Swift, M. C. Ponder, Lee Marak, Judge W. C. Wallace and Ed Manning.

SECOND SECTION

U.S. Weather Forecaster Asks - What's Your Vote, Wet Or Dry?

(Ed Note The following report is prepared by Mr. James Fidler, Chief Meteorologist, U.S. Weather Bureau, Austin, and published in the public interest by The Cameron Herald.)

We've often been asked when we are going to be able to "do something" about the weather. Our stock answer is, "How would you vote, wet or dry?" But it's not as simple as that.

The streams of air that control the development and movement of storms in the lower atmosphere from which our weather comes are very deep. They are influenced by the global weather systems and a small change or local influence may have little or no effect on the general circulation that could produce a warm or wet season. In some cases, the absence of storms can have serious effects. The island of Puerto Rico is having a serious drought that might be explained by the lack of a "good" hurricane. The northeast trade winds provide some rains on the north side of the island's mountains, but unless a tropical storm of some intensity shifts the winds into the south, the southside of the island's west mountain slopes get no rain. So, no storms, no rain. This same idea to some extent holds for Texas. Unless we get this strong cold winds high overhead to trigger the warm tropical air from the Gulf into swelling thunderstorms, we can go for weeks without much needed rains.

While some areas are getting storms that they don't seem to need, others are suffering drought. The past week was a good example of just that. Damaging storms and even tornadoes were frequent and almost regular along a line from the Texas Panhandle into the western Great Lakes area. This was the result of the streams of air that form severe storms settling into an unchanging pattern with the same required conditions for storm development coming together on regular intervals.

We give a broad look at the weather to explain the conditions that will affect the weather in general and storm formations in particular through Central Texas. We have to know if the warm air from the Gulf has the moisture, whether dry gusty winds will come from Mexico, and if cool Pacific air will trigger thunderstorms to give beneficial rains. Our hope is that from day to day our story will provide the information and forecasts that will be of service to the Texans that we serve.

More Doors, Wider Hopes....

We're as happy to read of Walled Lake's door production record last year as any Milam resident.

That experience is certainly evidence that the industrial climate is "fair and warmer" in Cameron and Milam County. We recall that Alcon's Rockdale Smelter is having good production, if not the best in the plant's history.

What greater invitation to industry than reports such as these?

And combined with the fantastically good moisture, in places a bit much, our good industrial production record offers a note of optimism in these Milam parts, which has had a generous

A Helpful 'Yes'

There are times when a "yes" is of only minor help, but when a "no" would be fatal. This is almost the situation which prevailed at the London meeting of the South East Asia Treaty Organization in its discussion of American action in Vietnam.

SEATO's strong condemnation of the Communist assault upon South Vietnam was a comfort and an encouragement to the United States, and was thus welcome. It will not, however, greatly change the diplomatic situation. Had, however, a majority of the participants followed France's lead and refused to give such commendation, the situation would immediately have been made far more difficult for Washington.

Those nations asserting that defeat for the Communist campaign was "essential not only to the security of the Republic of Vietnam but to that of Southeast Asia" were Australia, Britain, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand, and the United States. Pakistan, while not disagreeing, limited itself to expressing concern over continued warfare and called for peace negotiations on the basis of the 1954 Geneva agreement.

France's abstinence was expected in view of President de Gaulle's strong criticism of American action. Pakistan's position is attributed in part to that country's wish not to offend Communist China with which it has sought to establish friendlier relations and whose help it might seek in any Indian-Pakistani military showdown.

Although the support of the SEATO majority had been expected, it is nonetheless welcome diplomatic underpinning for America's difficult role in Southeast Asia.

Meanwhile, we wonder if Henry Cabot Lodge, who has just returned from an Asian fact-finding and fact-starting tour, was not being overoptimistic when he said, "everywhere I went there was an understanding of what we are trying to do and a real appreciation for what we are doing." We ask this because other facts would seem to show that America's diplomatic battles in Asia over Vietnam are almost as difficult as are its military ones.

Parents Liable For Vandalism

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — Parents of rambunctious children soon may be paying more attention to the activities of their offspring.

A bill passed by both Houses of the Legislature makes parents liable up to $5,000 for damages done by their children. Measure now is in the hands of Gov. John Connally for his signature.

It applies to 10 to 18 year olds who damage public or privately owned property.

Sponsors of the bill are Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon and Rep. Willis Whatley of Houston. They contend that stiffer penalties than the present $300 maximum will curb vandalism.

Bill was prompted by the number of cases where homes and schools were being wrecked by vandals, but also it applies to such cases as false fire alarms and other acts of vandalism.

SHOWDOWN NEARING — As the end of the current legislative session nears, legislators rapidly are approaching decision time on legislative and congressional redistricting, teacher pay raises and new taxes.

House passed a congressional redistricting plan which almost everybody is taking for granted will be drastically changed in the Senate and will have to be worked out in a conference committee. Meanwhile, the Senate cleared the way for adoption of a senatorial districting plan keeping control in rural areas.

One of the biggest crowds of the legislative session appeared Wednesday for House and Senate committee hearings on heatedly-contested bills by Texas State Teachers Association and Governor Connally to raise teacher pay.

Connally wants a 10-year graduated pay plan; TSTA insists on its plan for $405 annual raises to all teachers.

Final approval of the record $3,600,000,000 general budget bill for state government operation is expected in both houses by week's end. House Revenue and Tax Committee is looking carefully at all the serious revenue proposals in its deck.

Gov. Connally has estimated there may be need for a new tax bill as high as $100,000,000 if school teacher pay raises are approved by the Legislature.

Where to get the money is the big question.

One thing for sure — he's opposed to a hike in the sales tax rate or extension of the present two per cent levy to groceries or medicines.

Among the possibilities, however, are: restrool of the 50 cent corporation franchise surtax (back to $2.75 per $1,000 of capital, surplus and undivided profit) and once more boosting the seven per cent gas production tax.

He already has recommended a cigarette tax increase.

KEY WATER BILLS PASSED — Session's top water bills, recommended by the Governor and water experts, have completed the legislative circuit and are ready to be signed into law.

Bills would authorize Texas Water Development Board to issue another $100,000,000 in bonds for state purchase of storage in reservoirs and for local water projects; reorganize Texas Water Commission as water rights agency; and transfer statewide planning duties from the Commission to Texas Water Development Board.

A proposed constitutional amendment is pending to authorize issue of still another $200,000,000 in water development bonds.

DIVORCE SLOWDOWN — A bill that would extend the waiting period from 60 to 180 days before a divorce is granted, where children under 18 years of age are involved, has been approved by the House and the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

Bill is sponsored by Rep. Paul B. Haring of Goliad and Sen. William N. Patman of Garardo.

Sponsors feel that the bill would provide a check on hasty, ill-conceived divorces and remarriages, thereby giving added protection to children involved. Also it would be effective in reducing juvenile delinquency and the crime rate.

Bill has strong support of many prominent jurists and clergymen. YOUTH CORPS JOB A JOB — Program to provide part-time jobs for needy students under the federal Economic Opportunity Act is growing fast and reaching into many areas of Texas.

Gov. Connally reports that office details for handling the project require a staff larger than the crew that handles all the duties of the Governor's office.

Connally has approved nearly a dozen Neighborhood Youth Corps programs, involving Federal grants for projects in Rio Grande City; Los Fresnos; Harris County; Beaumont; Dallas County; Galveston County; Laredo; Olton; Lockhart and San Marcos.

Grants are authorized by the U.S. Dept. of Labor in Washington, but are subject to final approval by the Governor.

Terrell Blodgett, director of the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity, has announced appointment of two consultants to help communities organize local action programs. They are Bertrand Adams of Austin and Robert Watts of Lufkin.

Criminal Jurisprudence Committee has approved a 145 page bill overhauling the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure. It is set for debate late next week.

Affecting nearly all citizens, the far-reaching measure is the number one legislative objective of the State Bar of Texas.

Revision was passed by the 59th Legislature, but was voted by the Governor because of errors in the bill.

—OLD PHILOSOPHER—

Dear editor:

While I've never figured out how television pictures can be sent through the air even ten miles, I understand now they've got a satellite up called Early Bird which enables live pictures to be sent to practically any spot in the world.

Under this system, Hubble and Hazel can be seen in Europe the same night they're seen here, although what we'd get in exchange hasn't been indicated and there's no way of telling who'd get the worst of the deal. It's hard to see though how we could come out the losers.

But what interested me about this was a comment I read in a paper in snatches last night during commercials that the Early Bird television satellite, by bringing instantaneous news from the rest of the world to this country and the same from this country to the rest of the world, will "help mutual understanding more than anything that has gone on heretofore."

I have thought this statement over and I'm not sure about it. What I mean is, we've had direct, live television from Washington, New York, Alabama and other places to this Johnson grass farm for several years, but still there are lots of times when I doubt if we understand each other.

Also, I'm not sure a live television picture from Viet Nam will tell us what's going on over there, especially when the people living on the scene right there in that country don't know what's going on.

There are some members of Congress, right there in Washington where they can see live without any television, who don't know what happened on the floor yesterday.

In fact, it's hard for me to believe that the reason the world's in the uncertain state it is today is that we haven't seen enough of each other's television programs live or shipped over on film.

I'm not undermining television, I like it, it beats plowing any day, but if anybody is counting on it to bring understanding and peace among nations, he's been getting some different channels from the ones I get out here.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

TAKE YOUR PROBLEMS TO CHURCH THIS WEEK

Millions Leave Them There!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Personalized Auto Plates

AUSTIN
Now Texans have a new status symbol: Personalized, prestige auto license plates.

A bill approved by the Legislature and signed by Gov. Connally Thursday authorizes issuance of personalized license plates upon payment of a $10 fee in addition to normal auto registration charges.

Not only may Texans have their automobiles identified with distinctive one-of-a-kind license plates, but the Texas treasury will get a substantial boost, too.

It has been estimated that the measure may raise as much as $5 million - or personalized plates on one of every dozen vehicles.

Council On Race Relations Meets

ROGERS
The third meeting of the Rogers Community Council on Racial Relations was held Thursday, May 6, at the Rogers Church of Christ, with the Rev. John Witte, pastor of the First Baptist Church, presiding.

The chairman appointed a committee to study thoroughly and plan a community wide meeting in the near future to further the purpose of the Council, "for the improvement of relations between people of all races." The committee will consist of Mr. Melvin Allen, minister of the Church of Christ, chairman; Rev. E. D. Townsend, pastor of the Negro Baptist Church; Mrs. Melvin Harris, teacher in the Burk Elementary School; B. F. Harbour, school superintendent; Dean Commert, president of the Rogers Community Service Club.

Other members of the Council are: I. C. Morgan, Negro Baptist Church; Mrs. Ernestine L. Powell, principal of Burks School; J. A. Dabney and T. C. Mahler, First Methodist Church; J. H. Merka, vocational agriculture teacher; David Harris, Church of Christ; Bob Persky, Rogers Community Service Club; Sam Rae and Rev. Ronald Burgess, First Christian Church; Mrs. Edwin A. Smith Jr., First Baptist Church.

The next meeting of the Council will be held 7:30 p.m. June 10.

Rita Stewart In

College Operetta

Rita Kay Stewart, freshman music education major from Milano, will play the part of a bridesmaid in the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Trial by Jury," being produced by Sam Houston State College Music Department.

The operetta will be part of a spring concert to be held Thursday, May 13, at Huntsville. Miss Stewart is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jewell O. Stewart of Milano.

registered in the State. Ninety-five per cent of all fees will be paid to the State's General Fund.

The measure was recommended by Gov. Connally to help finance the Texas program for tourism, recreation and State parks. The Governor also suggested that Texans join in an Interstate Tourist Compact for tourist advertising overseas to make known the attractions of the United States.

The bill will be administered by the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department, the agency responsible for registration and licensing of all vehicles in the State. The Highway Fund will receive five per cent of collections to defray administrative costs.

Although the bill does not become effective until 90 days after the Legislature adjourns, the Motor Vehicle Division will begin accepting applications at once. The estimated date that plates will be issued for use is on or about August 24.

Obviously, only one plate of a kind may be issued. And it will go to the first applicant. Once a specific, personalized license plate has been assigned to a motorist, it will be reserved for his use in succeeding years if his renewal application is submitted by January 1.

All applications must be sent to the Motor Vehicle Division, Texas Highway Department, 40th & Jackson, Austin. Application forms now are available at the individual county tax assessor-collector's office. They must be accompanied by the $10 personalized license registration fee. A similar fee, in addition to normal registration charges, will be required each year a personalized plate is issued.

All applications must be accompanied by the applicant's name, address and classification of vehicle for which the personalized plates are intended - limited to passenger cars, trucks, tractors, trailers (not exceeding 10,000 pounds), buses or house trailers.

PARK IMPROVEMENT — Several Cameron youngsters watch a city employee as he re-makes the merry-go-round at the City Park. The work is just one of the projects to improve facilities at the park. Councilmen have also voted to buy a new merry-go-round, see-saw, slide and plan to have more swings built. —Staff photo

Human Resources-Strength Of Community Expansion

(Ed. note: This is the second of a series on information revealed at the Texas Power & Light Area Development Seminar in Dallas recently published by The Herald to give all citizens of the area an insight into relating local factors which affect industrial development.)

actors which affect industrial development in cities and towns such as Cameron center on many local aspects.

Along with those related last week, many more were noted by John H. Rutledge, director of Real Estate Management of Champion Papers Inc.

AVAILABLE BUILDING

"Our discussion is largely centered about proposed construction for the good reason that existing buildings rarely satisfy requirements. However, there is a structure that resembles the prototype, most companies will try to make it fit.

"Construction of a new facility has a high increment of cost that never gets on the books; namely, the value of lost time by its executives and others who neglect their primary duties to discuss, plan, revise and supervise the erection of a new plant or warehouse.

"While reasonable changes or additions are usually necessary to adapt existing structures to new uses it is far less costly and more expedient than a building program.

ZONING & BUILDING CODES

"Has this community a professionally conceived and administered master plan which is coordinated with those of adjoining communities? Are industrial zones adequately defined and protected from encroachment by non-conforming users? Does zoning ordinance penalize a mechanized warehouse by a high ration requirement of black top parking lot to building size or is it tied to numbers of people? Are there teeth in laws controlling adverse influences from smoke, dust, noxious odors, etc?

Code apply or has the local code been recently revised to permit use of the latest construction materials and techniques? Are enforcement and may have considerable bearing on future comfort and safety.

FIRE & POLICE PROTECTION

"Fire protection and insurance rates are an area of extreme importance and may have considerable bearing on future comfort and safety.

"If sprinklers are required, water pressure must pass minimum an apparently adequate system may be considered wanting and a reservoir or pump may be required. Are fire walls or baffles necessary? What is the run time to this site for nearest fire fighting unit? Is equipment modern and are firemen professionals or volunteers?

"What is the per capita ratio of police? Is the police budget sufficient? If shift changes create a traffic problem, are patrolmen available to help?

SITE CONSIDERATIONS

"We seek a land area approximately 4 times the size of our proposed building. This will usually permit expansion to an allowable legal ratio of 2 to 1 while we have found to be a practical projection of future need.

"All utilities are desirable including natural gas and sanitary sewers. Although prices for such lots are considerably higher than raw land, we find them decidedly cheaper than providing these services ourselves. Also the probable appreciation and subsequent marketability of the land itself is virtually assured.

"I will only mention in passing the consideration a discriminating buyer will always give to drainage, inundation records, adverse influences, access, curb cuts, sewer and water taps, prominence of site for advertising value.

Last, but certainly not least, is price and assessments, if any.

HUMAN RESOURCES

"The strength of any community lies, in my opinion, not completely in its natural resources, its proximity to the main line nor its aesthetic and climatic appeal, but rather in its human resources.

Those of us traveling about getting the feel of a community note with interest the faith its residents have in themselves. If a village, town or city can provide an adequate and competent working force, has its own house in order, exhibits a willingness to give that extra measure and has a few interested salesmen who have the facts, it will certainly prosper.

"It is my firm belief that of all factors affecting industrial development, the most influential is good people cooperating in common purpose."

Cameron and area residents will be able to take a look at their "house" during a joint meeting of all city, county, chamber and interested persons being planned for June.

St. Edwards Notes Modern Care, Cost

During National Hospital Week, which is being observed May 16-18, officials at St. Edward Hospital have compiled hospital facts comparing 1954 to 1964.

U. S. officials have noted that it costs hospitals twice as much to care for a patient today as it did ten years ago. They said the cost has increased from $18.35 to $36.63 a day, primarily because of rising wages of hospital personnel, new equipment and new services.

Viewing records at Cameron's St. Edward Hospital, salaries and supplies expenditures in Cameron were $38,357.57 and $81,549.69, respectively, for 1954.

In 1964 the salaries were up to $48,718.97 and supplies $98,805.49 for a jump of over $27,000.

Free services were somewhat lower over the ten year span going from $14,967.16 to $11,567.13 in 1964. These expense figures do not include costs of drugs and equipment purchased out of town.

Admissions and births were lower with 1367 admissions in 1954 compared to 1388 in 1964. Births were 337 in 1954 and dropped to 154 in 1964.

Officials said St. Edward Hospital is a non-profit institution which means that any gains acquired in the operation of the hospital do not accrue to any individual or persons, but are absorbed by the hospital in the way of plant improvements and service to the patients.

PATIENT PLANNED

No phase of hospital service and no type of hospital equipment is secured without full consideration of the people who may someday be patients, the officials noted.

The emergency room, for example, has one goal in mind - to render emergency service to anyone who needs it.

Available for emergency treatment at St. Edward Hospital are such items as oxygen therapy unit, pneumatic tourniquet for control of hemorrhage, and resuscitator for the emergency patient who is unable to breathe for himself.

This equipment would be of no value without trained personnel to use it. Registered nurse services are provided for 24 hours a day along with other special personnel such as medical technologist, X-ray technician, accountant and certified registered nurse anesthetist.

The hospital laboratory carries on many duties, but one of the most important tests performed is the matching of blood for transfusions. This task is in the hands of a medical technologist.

BLOOD SUPPLY

While observing Hospital Week, officials noted how fortunate Milam County citizens are to have a supply of blood available through the Red Cross Regional Blood Bank in Waco. Without the Red Cross program blood would cost recipients from $35 to $50 per unit in addition to the administration and cross-matching charges.

In order to inform the public, the hospital officials said electrocardiograms are read by a consultant cardiologist; services of a qualified radiologist for the reading of X-rays have been provided since 1949; all tissue removed by surgery is sent to a competent pathologist to be analyzed for cancer and other pathology or disease.

Also, the Laboratory and X-ray departments are under the direct supervision of a registered medical and X-ray technologist. The requirements for these technologists are two years of college and one year of internship in approved registered schools. In the near future, the standards for both schools will be raised as procedures and techniques are becoming more advanced.

SALES TALK

"This suit will wear like iron," the friendly salesman assures you. If it doesn't really wear like iron, are you entitled to a refund.

Obviously not. Even though the salesman exaggerated, any sensible person would have taken his statement with a grain of salt. The law doesn't require absolute honesty by a seller for the simple reason that people just don't expect it.

"It always has been understood, the world over," observed Oliver Wendell Holmes, "that such statements are to be distrusted."

Of course, salesmanship can spill over into fraud. Although the dividing line is not always clear, there are several factors that weigh heavily in the law's balance.

For instance:

IT'S A LIVING

-- by Al Johns

Nola Knows

By Nola White

Dear Nola - My daddy is eighty-six years old and a few months ago he married a woman younger than I am...I'm sixty. How in the world am I supposed to introduce this woman to people? Am I supposed to say this is my "step-mother" as young as she is, or do I just say my father's wife?

Puzzled Over Daddy

Dear Puzzled - Talk this over with your father's wife and find out which she prefers. She probably can solve the problem for you and feel flattered that you were considerate enough to ask.

Dear Nola - My husband is a cranky old man 30 years older than I am. When we married he promised me that I could do as I pleased, but he has changed his mind and wants me to stay home all the time. I don't do anything but go to the neighborhood tavern and drink a little beer with my friends, but he thinks this is wrong.

To keep down trouble I have taken to hiding my car in a vacant lot to keep him from seeing it in front of this tavern. Now, my problem is this: The other day a man who doesn't have anything to do with the vacant lot told me that if I parked there any more he would report me. How can I get him to mind his own business?

Parking Problems

Dear Parking - You've got problems that have nothing to do with where you put your car. Nothing can be done about having married a man 30 years your senior, but marriage is sacred, and regardless of insane agreements to "let you do as you please," you should wipe the foam off your upper lip and go home where you belong. Take some of the energy you spend bending elbows with your "friends" and use it to make your husband happy. The stranger will mind his business if you will mind yours.

Dear Nola - We have a friend (or rather, my wife does) who can smell a roast cooking a mile away. He never announces his arrival but busts in any time he wants to and makes himself at home. He eats everything my wife fixes me for dinner, and sometimes nothing at all is left. Also, sometimes he and my wife have been drinking. What would you do about this?

Confused

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

Are You The Romantic Type?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

Based on the personality studies done by Professor L. Gross of the University of Buffalo, the following statements will help you to determine whether you are an emotional iceberg or the valentine type... or an inbetween... when it comes to romance. Answer the sentences true or false as you see them.

	TRUE	FALSE
1. There is no place for jealousy where there is real love.	()	()
2. In the life of each person there is never more than one great love.	()	()
3. "Love conquers all." (Social differences, parental objections, etc.)	()	()
4. A woman should expect her husband or lover to be gallant at all times.	()	()
5. In a real love-marriage there are no disillusionments.	()	()
6. When people are truly in love, they tell each other everything about their past, their thoughts, their hopes.	()	()
7. The feminine type of woman makes a better mate than the down-to-earth, practical wife.	()	()
8. When people are in love, they are so well suited that there are never any disagreements.	()	()
9. "Absence makes the heart grow fonder."	()	()
10. A person who is truly in love will show it by always remembering birthdays, anniversaries and special occasions with gifts, cards, etc.	()	()
11. Love should be expressed... even if it is contrary to the moral standards of your community or associates.	()	()
12. Economic security bears little or no relationship to a happy marriage, provided both mates are deeply in love.	()	()

SCORING: Give yourself 1 point for each TRUE.

ANALYSIS: 10 to 12 points: You are a walking example of a "hopeless romanticist." You are unrealistic and have your eyes so much on the stars that you are likely to stub your toe. Better start using your eyes and not your heart. Take three happily married couples you ACTUALLY know (not story-book characters) and apply this set of questions to them. You'll be surprised!

6 to 9 points: You are romantically inclined, but you are saved by practicality on many counts. Just be careful that some flight of fancy under a full moon in June (or any other month) doesn't land you in trouble, romantically speaking.

1 to 6 points: Your head rules your heart. You may get a kick out of a hearts-and-flowers movie, but you take a cool, clear look at your date on the way out. If you follow your good sense, it is unlikely you will be disillusioned in matters of love.

0 points: You are practicality and no monkey-business. You are the type who calls a spade a dirty old shovel. You may be surprised but you're seldom disappointed. (It has been found on this test that men usually rate less romantic and more practical than women. If this is true in your case, don't worry; it's just one of the differences between the sexes.)

Outdoors In Texas

By Vern Sanford

A friend and I were planning a weekend trip to the Texas coast. This inland-fishing companion, getting ready to make his debut in salt water, wanted to know what kind of tackle to buy.

"Don't go to any extra expense," I told him. "Just bring along your bass-fishing outfit."

He thought I was joking.

Like many others who haven't fished the Gulf, my friend had the misconception that special tackle, big and stout, was needed for salt water. It is a fact that most coastal fishermen are over-tackled, armed with equipment not adapted to their personal needs.

This is an accepted oversight among beginning fishermen. Yet you'd be amazed at how many veteran fresh-water anglers have put off junkets to the coast because they were disillusioned about the price of a salt-water trip, believing special tackle and special boats are an absolute must to fish the briny deep.

Of course a fisherman must be practical. He can't expect to pick up his pet bass-fishing outfit and go catch a sailfish on it. Yet ordinary fresh-water tackle will catch a vast majority of those game fish which swim in bays and gulfs.

There's a veteran fisherman in Austin named Conrad Fath. He has one complete outfit for both inland and coastal fishing. His is a 16-foot runabout boat powered by a 35-horsepower outboard and a casting outfit, six-foot rod and conventional reel with 15-pound-test line.

Around Austin the rig is used to catch black bass, crappie, catfish. On the coast it brings in seatrout and redfish from the bays and even scoots a few short miles offshore where the light tackle brings in jackfish, dolphin, kingfish and Spanish mackerel. Occasionally, just for kicks, he'll even take tarpon on it.

There are several valid reasons for this modern-day trek of bass tackle to the sea. One of the foremost is that distances are shrinking. No longer does an inland fisherman idly dream of someday going to the coast. He just picks up his gear and heads seaward, often traveling more than 500 miles for a weekend of enjoyment. Rather than straining the family budget with a varied assortment of tackle, he makes one or two rigs do the job, both at home and during the trip.

Another primary motivation for the phenomenal popularity growth is the very design of fresh-water tackle itself. Today the common fiberglass rod is sturdy, yet flexible and resilient. It can withstand all kinds of punishment. Reels are non-corrosive. You can use one in salt water and the only post-trip maintenance required is to rinse thoroughly with fresh water.

Most of the reels nowadays also come with some sort of braking device. This has eliminated much of the guess-work about taking big fish on light tackle. The grudging drag resistance allows line to slip at the critical moment, avoiding broken tackle.

Still a third reason is that sport fishing seems to be passing through a rejuvenation phase. Modern sportsmen are rediscovering the true excitement of angling, with the actual catch being only an anticlimax end to a means. The thrill lies in the search, the challenge, the fight; the catch is secondary.

Any bassfishing outfit is okay for coastal fishing, within the limitations of common sense. But a few slight alterations may make the tackle more suitable for coastal needs.

If the line tests less than 10 pounds, change it to something more practical, say to 15 to 25 pounds test. Also add a thin piano wire leader to the business end of the line. On a majority of the salt-water species this is needed to keep the sharp teeth of the fish from cutting your line.

Spray the tackle with silicone or oil, available in pressurized cans at sporting goods stores. The coating prevents rod ferrules from sticking and some minor parts ther by substituting a two-handed

Some fishermen go a step further by substituting a two-handed rod for the conventional one-handed bass rod. There are some advantages to this. With a two-handed rod the angler can attain more distance with his casts. Also when playing fish he can rest the butt against his belly to take some muscle strain off his arms. But the two-handed rod isn't dictated, the one-handed rod will do almost as good a job.

It is a joy to fish with fresh-water outfits. Casting with one is effortless. Once a fish is hooked, there is that satisfying thrill which comes only with the right tackle for the right fish, the ultimate fight.

Another overlooked fact is that small lures, which only can be adequately cast with light tackle, often take the most fish.
